

Recognising languages

1. Take the flash card and answer the following questions:

a) Which languages on the flash card do you recognise?

b) Which of these languages do you speak yourself (even if few words or sentences)?

c) Do you speak other languages as well (even if few words or sentences)?
If yes, which ones?

d) Which languages on the flash card can be grouped together? Why?

e) Would it be possible to form different language groups, looking at different characteristics? Write down all possible groups and highlight or name the differences between the groups.

Comparing languages

2. Now look at the sentences on the flash card. Explore the card pulling the tabs and see what happens.

a) What could be the grammar topic of this flash card?

b) First check with your teacher/solution whether you recognised the grammar topic. Then have another close look at the sentences on the flash card.

- In what order do you place the words of a sentence in the foreign language (defined by your teacher)?
 - If you speak other languages: What order do the words take in these languages?
 - In which group from exercise 1e) do these additional languages fit best?

3. Below you can see two branches with four birds each. The birds have taken a different order on the two branches. Which languages fit which branch?
Tick the correct boxes. Use the flash card, if necessary.

4. What do the cocks love?

- Answer the question «What do the cocks love?» once in German and at least in one other language on the flash card. If you speak further languages, also write the sentence in this language!
- Read the sentences out loud to each other.

Hearing languages

5. In the audio «Sentences syntax», you hear the flash card sentences pronounced.

a) Listen to the audio a second time and assign each sentence to the correct language.

Deutsch Sentence _____

English Sentence _____

Français Sentence _____

Italiano Sentence _____

Romontsch Sentence _____

b) You have just heard what the sentences sound like in the different languages. Now try to repeat the sentences aloud! Help each other out. If you feel insecure, ask your teacher to replay the sentences individually.

6.a) Read the story. In the sentences in bold, mark the verbs blue and the subjects orange.

How the wren became the king of all birds (based on a fable by Aesop)

«Mother, mother, please tell us the story of how we became the kings of the birds!», the little wren chicks chirp. «You tell the story so beautifully!»

The mother feeds a little caterpillar to one of her chicks. «You want to hear stories all day long», she tweets tiredly.

But the little wrens sing: «Yes, yes, yes, please, please!»

«Alright, I will tell you the story.»

The tiny birds quickly shut their beaks and listen attentively. Their mother starts telling the story:

«A long, long time ago, all birds organised a flying competition among themselves. The bird which would fly the highest, was to become the king of the birds. The small songbirds were the first to get tired. Soon they gave up and flew back to the ground. Now, only the eagle was still flying. He soared high up in the sky. He won the competition – or at least that's what he thought. As he became tired, too, and was about to land, he heard a tiny little voice above him: Je suis la reine, I am the queen! Jetzt bin ich die Königin! That was your great-great-great-great-great grandmother. She had been hiding within the eagle's plumage. Now she was fluttering in the air above him. All the little songbirds sang a victory song: Sie hat gewonnen! Nous avons une petite reine! In pign utschi ei la regina! Now we have a little queen! Adesso i piccoli uccelli sono i re! The big birds, however, were angry and whistled: That's not fair! She only won because she tricked us cunningly! But your great-great-great-great-great grandmother answered: L'aguila vola in alto perché è forte e assidua. I fly high because I am smart and inconspicuous. Daco duei l'in valer e l'auter buc?»

The little wren chicks are excited about the story and tweet jubilantly: «Wir sind klug und unauffällig, that's why we are the kings!» Alarmed, the mother looks up at the sky, where the buzzards and red kites draw their circles. «Shhhhh! Quiet! The wrens may be the kings of the birds, but wrens are also very small indeed. And you are very loud. And just now, the birds of prey up there are very hungry.»»

- b) Now listen to the story with the audio file «The wren» and use the following abbreviations to indicate in the text in which language the underlined sentences were spoken.

Deutsch	→	D
English	→	E
Français	→	F
Italiano	→	I
Romontsch	→	R

Understanding languages

7. Try to write down a rule: Where in the sentence is the predicate (verb) placed in German and in Romansh and where is it placed in the other languages? Use your notes from exercise 2 «Comparing languages».

Playing with languages

8. All the birds are already here!

Your teacher forms four groups of the same size: one group of wrens (subjects), one group of eagles (verbs), one group of tits (objects) and one group of owls (adverbials). If one group is to be smaller than the others, it should be the owls.

Every student thinks about one word for his sentence element (e.g., the wrens think of a subject, the eagles of a verb, etc.) or chooses one from the list below or from a dictionary.

Now place four chairs in front of the class. The teacher calls a wren (subject), an eagle (verb) and a tit (object) to the front and defines the language.

You fly to your respective chair according to your position in the sentence. As soon as you all agree on your positions, each «bird» says his/her word out loud. Thus, you speak your sentence. Is the sentence correct? Your peers whistle happily if it is, meaning: «well done!», and crouch down if it isn't, meaning: «check again!».

Your teacher changes the setting once or twice, changing the language or adding an owl (adverbial) to the sentence. Then it's the next group's turn.

→ For additional variations: see teacher's commentary.
